TRPSA LAW FIRM ANNOUNCES NEW PARTNERS AND ASSOCIATES

(SAN ANTONIO, AUSTIN) — San Antonio-based law firm, Tuggey Rosenthal Pauerstein Sandoloski Agather LLP (TRPSA), has recently added senior government affairs partners and real estate and business law associates to support its Washington DC, Austin and San Antonio operations.

Wallace Henderson, a senior government affairs expert with over 25 years of US Capitol Hill experience, has joined the firm's Austin and Washington DC operations as a partner. Melissa Castro Killen, a government affairs and regulatory law expert, joins the firm's San Antonio operations, and will support the Austin and Washington offices as client needs require. Sandy Parker and Nell Smith, who will work in the firm's San Antonio office, join the firm as new associates in the real estate finance and lending, and business practice areas.

“We are honored to have Wallace Henderson and Melissa Castro Killen join us—they bring significant new strength to our federal, state and local government affairs and regulatory practices,” Tuggey said. He added, “Similarly, Sandy Parker and Nell Smith bring a new spark to our traditional law practices. All of these additions to our team reflect the positive growth we have enjoyed and expect in the future.”

TRPSA, with prominent real estate, business, government affairs, and regulatory practices, maintains offices in San Antonio, Austin and Washington, DC. “We are privileged to serve many of the region's most dynamic and successful business leaders. We strive each day to earn this privilege yet again,” said Tuggey.
